

This morning the remains of Charley Anderson, the young man who died Thursday morning at the Sisters' Hospital in this city, were shipped from Marsh's Undertaking Parlors to Stuebenville, Pa., the unfortunate young man's former home. An operation for appendicitis, was performed last Sunday, without avail, the boy's condition being so bad he was unable to recover. Charley arrived here nearly two years ago from the east; for time he worked in the Sonora News Company's local store. When taken ill he was time keeper at Duquesne Mining & Reduction Co. He was a fine boy, and his sudden, untimely passing is deeply regreted by all who knew him. During his illness he was given every care and attention.
